

When I was a PT student at the Faculty of Physical Therapy, Mahidol University, I had an opportunity to practice at a hospital in Randers, Denmark during November 17th – December 12th 2008 both in in-patient and out-patient departments. Moreover, I have also observed multi-disciplinary working style that impressed me so much because this working style aims to the real benefits of patients. Eventually, I reckon that practicing overseas is good at widening my perspectives. I have seen many things such as various techniques, modernized instruments, multi-disciplinary working style. All of these are valuable practical.

Chaitawat Detcharoen