

Being an exchange student is one of my best experiences. By being an exchange student isn't proved that I am the best student, however it prove myself how much I can do my best to survive in another country and how much experience I can brought back. I have learnt so many things there. I have learnt how to adapt to new friends, new culture, new climate (the very cold one!!), and new environment. I have also learnt about new knowledge of treatment for the patient in physiotherapist way and how to handle with the patient in different cases. I am very grateful for this amazing and unforgettable experience. One thing I learned about adapting to new things is just being open minded and take a step forward!
